

EXPLOSION ENTOMBS TWO HUNDRED AND THIRTY MINERS IN COAL SHAFT AT DAWSON, NEW MEXICO

RESCUERS ARE CALLED FROM ALL PARTS OF COLORADO AND TAKE OUT FIVE MEN BY 10 O'CLOCK

Cause of Disaster Is Unknown—Impossible to Make Any Conjecture as to Loss of Life—Fact That None of the Entombed Men Have Been Able to Make Their Way Out Leads to Belief That All Are Cut Off from Every Means of Exit—Relief Camp Organized.

BULLETIN.
TRINIDAD, Colo., Oct. 22.—A rush order has just been received from Dawson, by the coroner here asking for five cases of embalming fluid and all the robes and caskets that were in stock. A rush order has also been sent to Denver.

DAWSON, Oct. 22.—Three Italian miners were rescued alive from the debris at the opening of the Stag Canon mine at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The entombed men included General Superintendent Frank McDermott of the mine and several other American miners. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Meager advices received up to 9:49 tonight were that only five miners had been taken from the upper level alive. These reports stated that most of the day shift were employed below the second level where the shaft was blocked with debris resulting from the explosion. Accounts from Dawson and Raton were uncertain as to the possibility of rescuing any of the men alive, while a statement issued from the headquarters of the Phelps-Dodge company at El Paso, Texas, expressed hope that most of the entombed men would be found alive. This belief was based on the fact that the workings of No. 2 mine are connected by a tunnel with mine No. 5, while an air shaft is said to furnish another means of exit.

Immediate relief work was undertaken by men from the night shift and neighboring mines. Appeals for aid started scores of experienced miners from Trinidad and the surrounding coal camps.

When informed by the Associated Press of the disaster, J. C. Roberts, superintendent of federal mine rescue stations in the Rocky Mountain division here, began immediate preparations to depart for Dawson with the rescue car. He also telegraphed Pittsburgh, Kans., and Rock Springs, Wyo., for the aid of rescue cars stationed at those points.

Believe Black Lamp Is Cause.
Raton, N. M., Oct. 22.—An explosion, believed to have been caused by black lamp, entombed 230 miners in mine No. 2 of the Stag Canon property at Dawson, N. M., this afternoon according to reports here.

The explosion is said to have occurred deep in the mine and though 100 feet of progress tonight has been made by the rescuers in their fight against the debris which has choked the mine entrance, only a few of the men have been recovered and it is believed that blockades exist for hundreds of feet further into the mine.

Aid has been summoned from Yankee, Sugarite, Coal and Van Houten. The mine at Dawson is one of the largest in the district and the entire day shift, including the superintendent were said to have been caught by the explosion. According to reports here it is said that little hope is entertained for the rescue of the entombed men alive.

Dawson is a town of about 1,500 inhabitants and is situated near the northern line of New Mexico. Coal mining is its chief industry.

Division Agent Notified.
El Paso, Texas, Oct. 22.—F. C. Zarle, division agent for the Dawson Fuel Sales company here received a communication by long distance telephone from Dawson which said: "An explosion in mine No. 2 of Stag Canon Fuel company mine at Dawson, N. M., caused a cave-in at the entrances of the mines, entombing 230 men, including General Superintendent Frank C. McDermott, a large majority of the men entombed are Italians. There is every reason to believe that practically all of the men entombed can be rescued as several means of escape are offered from mine No. 2, which is connected with mine No. 5 by a tunnel driven through the mountain and also connects with an air shaft driven from the top of the mountain down into the mine. This air shaft is equipped with steps and ladders upon which the entombed men, if they are able to reach the air shaft, can make their way to the top.

Mine Is Model One.
New York, Oct. 22.—While no direct word was received here tonight by Phelps, Dodge and company regarding the explosion in their coal mine at Dawson, N. M., it was stated by officers that the mine is so nearly perfect in its construction that it was conceivable that there would be any great loss of life.

"The mine is one of the model ones of the country," declared Cleveland H. Dodge, vice-president of the company. "It was as safe as engineering could make it. None of the tunnels is more than fifty feet deep—that was the depth of the one where the explosion occurred. I believe—and they are all so full of exits and ventilating shafts equipped with electric fans that we have regarded it as practically impossible for the deadly coal gas to accumulate. Unless men were killed in the explosion itself, it was inconceivable."

POSTPONE ACTION TO GIVE NEGROES A BISHOP

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH REFERS MATTER TO JOINT COMMISSION

Body Will Report at Next General Convention In 1916—Subject Is Discussed For Several Hours—Pension Plan Approved.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church today postponed for three years action on giving the negroes of the south a bishop to represent them directly in the house of bishops.

Majority and minority reports on the subject were presented but neither was adopted, the question being referred to a joint commission of deputies and bishops, which will report to the next general convention in 1916. The commission will consist of five bishops, five Presbyters and five laymen. The subject was discussed for several hours. Those who opposed the plan held it would mean ultimately the establishment of a colored Episcopal church entirely apart from the present church; they declared the southern negroes were not sufficiently developed to assume church responsibilities for themselves, but were still in need of the influence of white men in their religious affairs.

Supporters of the plan declared a merger of white and colored congregations in the south to be impossible and that hence it were better to give the negroes a church of their own than for them to have none at all. The lamentable conditions among many southern negroes were pointed out. It was asserted that the church had failed to alleviate these conditions and that it should experiment with a negro bishop.

A resolution was introduced by the Rev. W. A. R. Goodwin, of the diocese of Western New York, authorizing the Episcopal Church to co-operate with consultation boards of other denominations in the matter of general unity in church missions at home and abroad. The suggestion was made the order of business for tomorrow afternoon. As in other proposed legislation, the house of bishops must concur before it can become effective.

It was announced on behalf of the house of bishops that the Rev. Hugh Barlesson, secretary of the board of missions, had declined appointment as bishop of the missionary district of North Dakota, explaining he preferred to continue his present duties. The Rev. Dr. John Foyntz Tyler, arch-deacon of Cumberland, in the diocese of Maryland, was appointed to fill the North Dakota vacancy. The house of bishops will send Dr. Tyler's name to the house of deputies tomorrow for confirmation.

The house of bishops confirmed the election of the Rev. Dr. Frank Moulton by the diocese of Ohio as coadjutor bishop of that diocese. The house of deputies has already confirmed this appointment.

The pension plan proposed by the house of deputies for aged clergy was approved by the house of bishops. It was stated that if the plan works unsatisfactorily it would be remedied at the next triennial convention. The pensions are fixed at $600 minimum, and $2,000 maximum, graduating according to clergymen's salaries during active pastoral labors. The committee appointed three years ago to study this question will continue as a committee to put the plan into operation. The corporation will begin the work of raising $3,500,000 for immediate and $49,000,000 for future needs.

JOHNSON DECLARES REPUBLICANS MUST ADOPT PROGRESSIVE PLANS
States There Will Be No Amalgamation of Two Parties Until Such a Step Is Taken.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—There will be no amalgamation of the Republican party with the Progressives until the older party adopts all of the doctrines of the Progressives, according to Hiram W. Johnson, Progressive candidate for vice president last fall here today.

"If the Republican party adopts our platform and discards its old leaders, there may be amalgamation," he said. "The Progressive party is a husky youngster and is here to stay."

Governor Johnson is on his way to Massachusetts where he will campaign for a week for Charles S. Bird, Progressive candidate for governor in that state. He refused to discuss the impeachment of former Governor Sulzer of New York.

ACCEPTED O'CONNOR'S RESIGNATION.
Springfield, Oct. 22.—Governor Dunne today accepted the resignation of State Senator John M. O'Connor of the twenty-ninth district, who was elected last spring to the superior bench in Chicago. The resignation becomes effective Dec. 1. Unless a special session of the legislature should be called it is likely that Senator O'Connor's seat in the senate will be left vacant, as his term will expire before the next regular session.

BROWN HEADS NATIONAL CONGREGATIONALISTS

IS CHOSEN MODERATOR OF COUNCIL ON FIRST BALLOT

H. M. Beardsley of Kansas City Named First Assistant to Rev. Mr. Brown—Wheaton, Ill., Minister Causes Furore of Excitement.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 22.—Rev. Charles H. Brown, dean of Yale university, was chosen moderator of the National Council of Congregational Churches on the first ballot here this afternoon. Dr. Brown obtained 190 of the 354 votes cast.

Dr. Brown is 51 years old. For fourteen years he was pastor of the First Congregational church at Oakland, Calif., was active in the relief work after the San Francisco earthquake.

He graduated from the University of Iowa in the class of 1883 and took his theological degree in the Boston university.

Mr. H. M. Beardsley, Kansas City, was unanimously chosen first assistant moderator. Mr. Beardsley is an attorney and a former mayor of Kansas City. He was named as a candidate for moderator and received a good sized vote.

Dr. A. C. Garner, a negro pastor of the Plymouth church, Washington, D. C., was chosen second assistant moderator.

The delegates did not get a chance to discuss the report of the committee of nineteen containing a new statement of doctrine as the committee announced it would hold a public meeting tomorrow to hear suggested changes. Saturday the day set apart by the council for a discussion of the report.

Every allusion by speakers of a movement to unite the churches of the country and the world, met with prolonged applause.

Just before adjournment, a telegram from the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, in session in New York city, was received. It read:

"We send fraternal greetings and pray that the day may be hastened when all Christians shall be joined together in that peace and unity for which our Lord prayed."

The council voted to send a message of greeting to the Universalist church, in session at Chicago.

Reports of various committees appointed at the last meeting in Boston were received. Tonight, the council listened to the address of Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, of Brooklyn, N. Y., the retiring moderator, who declared Christianity today is flourishing, and the church is holding its own.

"Mankind is still incurably religious," said Dr. Boynton, "and the instinct of religion never more than today asks its brave questions, claims its unrealized hopes and initiates its inspiring adventures."

Rev. Charles A. Blanchard, of Wheaton, Ill., president of the Wheaton college, leader of the conservative faction, created a furore of excitement when he moved that a message of greeting, a committee had prepared to send to the Universalist church convention in Chicago, be cancelled and that the council not recognize any non-evangelical sect.

Governor Simeon Baldwin of Connecticut rose quietly out of the noise of the debate and said:

"Congregationalism does not stand for any such narrowness. The remark of the gentleman who has just spoken is unkindly, coming as it does when we Congregationalists have our hands out for church unity. Dr. Blanchard's motion was rejected and the telegram was sent."

DIAZ LANDS IN VERA CRUZ UNHINDERED

Will Not Withdraw from Presidential Race Even Though He Were Competing With Huerta

MAY BE FORCED TO LEAVE

According to Reports Diaz Will Have to Return to Havana On a Mexican Warship Unless Orders from Capital Are Altered

TWELVE ARRESTS ARE MADE

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Oct. 22.—General Felix Diaz landed here from the steamship Corcovado without hindrance this morning. He was cheered as he came ashore by several hundred people of the working class who had gathered on the quay. He went immediately to the residence of his mother-in-law.

He said in reply to inquiries that he would not withdraw from the presidential candidacy even though he were competing against the Huerta ticket.

An agent of the Mexican government called on General Diaz while he was still on board the Corcovado and attempted to induce him to continue his voyage to Tampico, but General Diaz refused to do so.

According to reports current here tonight Diaz is likely to return to Havana aboard a Mexican warship and unless the orders from the capital are altered he will be left no choice. General Diaz was to have been notified on the high seas of the government's wishes, but the captain of the gunboat Zaragoza, who put to sea in the middle of the night with Colonel Viadarranza, secretary to the minister of war, to whom the mission has been entrusted, lost his course. A new captain for the Zaragoza was named today.

Twelve Arrests Made.
There was no disorder here today but twelve arrests were made in connection with Diaz coming. Four of the prisoners are army officers. They are held in barracks subject to instructions from Mexico City. The officers were members of a commission named as a special embassy to Japan, of which General Diaz some months ago was the head. The officers were instructed to remain at Havana, but allege that a shortage of funds forced them to disobey orders. For this they were arrested. Three of the prisoners are Italians who are accused of plotting the assassination of Diaz.

The others are partisans of Diaz who are charged with attempting to influence the police in favor of their leader if demonstration occurred. The German cruiser Hertha holds her position in the harbor near the Corcovado. The action of her commander in landing two officers to take aboard a boat and to have created great interest and no protest has been made by the authorities.

Decline to Discuss Inquiries.
Washington, Oct. 22.—State department officials today declined to discuss in any way the inquiries made by Ambassador Page in London in respect to Great Britain's attitude in Mexico.

It was evident in whatever is passing between Great Britain and the United States on the latest phase of the Mexican situation, the utmost secrecy is to be observed. At the white house there was positively no information available and Secretary Bryan, who spent the entire day at home working on foreign matters, displayed extreme reticence about the subject.

Diplomats generally were of the opinion that there would be further conversations, but that they were not likely to occur until after Oct. 26 when the Mexican elections are scheduled to take place. A new expression of policy is expected from the United States immediately after that date.

No developments of importance in the internal situation in Mexico were reported, except the arrival of General Felix Diaz, which John Lind promptly cabled to the state department without comment.

The dispatch of warships to Mexico waters by France, Germany and Great Britain brought forth no comment from officials here. It is known that the sending of warships is not regarded by the United States as conflicting in any way with the desire of this government for a free hand in dealing with the Mexican problem.

CORPORATIONS TO PAY TAX.
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22.—It was learned in financial circles here today that many, if not all of the big corporations themselves will pay the income tax on bonds, regardless of where the bonds are held.

One big corporation already has made this announcement and another one is among the largest public utility organizations in the world will do so in a few days. Others, it is said, will follow their lead.

This plan is not one of philanthropy, but said to be the simplest way of satisfying the technicalities of the income law.

OTHER INDICTMENTS COMING SAYS WEBB

Characterizes True Bills Against 23 Former East St. Louis Officials as Fore-Runners of More

MANY CHARGE CONSPIRACY

Bills Are Result of Charges Growing Out of an Investigation of Alleged Municipal Irregularities—Large Sums Involved

MAYOR LAMBERT FIRST TO GIVE BOND

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 22.—The indictment today of twenty-three former officials of East St. Louis, Ill., on charges growing out of an investigation of alleged municipal irregularities was characterized by State Attorney Webb as the forerunner of other indictments to be returned by the grand jury.

These indicted today include an ex-mayor, a former city treasurer, two former comptrollers, two former heads of city departments, twelve former aldermen and the present chief or detectives. All these were a part of the administration of Charles S. Lambert, who retired from the mayoralty last spring, being succeeded by Mayor Chamberlain, who was elected on a reform platform.

Some of the allegations. Among the allegations supported by evidence introduced before the grand jury were the following:

That East St. Louis was more than $200,000 in debt.
That during the Lambert administration, warrants were issued for large sums of money for the payment of city officials, who had contracts with the city in violation of the law.

Many of the indictments returned against the various ex-officials cover the same offenses, but are differently phrased to meet all possible legal points.

Many of those named in the indictments are charged with having conspired to defraud the city of $100,000. This charge, it is believed, refers to irregularities in the health and street departments.

Claus E. Tietje, former chairman of the council it is alleged, has been paid hundreds of dollars monthly in statements, claims committee; that he had furnished supplies to the contagious hospital. Some of these bills were rendered, it is claimed, when there were no patients in the hospital.

Other city officials also are alleged to have been interested in contracts with the city. The city health department it is claimed, purchased supplies from Michael Soudas, a druggist, indicted today paying therefor exorbitant prices.

The embezzlement charge returned against former City Treasurer Gerold, it is believed, was based on evidence that bills were submitted to the city for payment by a storage and moving company of which he was secretary. City records show it is claimed, that nearly $1,959 a month had been paid to the assistant manager of the storage company and to another person for teams used on the streets.

Fourteen 1912 Members Indicted.
Fourteen members of the city council of 1912, are charged with conspiracy to defraud the city of $2,000. The details of this alleged crime are not stated, but this indictment is believed to cover an appropriation for a trip by members of the council to Buffalo and other eastern cities in September 1912, and appropriations for salaries illegally paid to councilmen. The law limits the aldermanic salaries to compensation for meetings actually attended, but it is charged funds were appropriated for salaries for meetings attended though they may not have been attended or held.

The former deputy building commissioner was indicted on a charge of embezzling funds paid for building permits and for plumbers' licenses.

Soon after the indictments were returned, the accused men began to come in to give bond.

The first to come in was former Mayor Lambert, whose bond was fixed at $15,000, and was signed by George E. Boismenu, a retired realty dealer and John Dvorak, a saloon keeper. Former Treasurer Gerold gave bond for a like amount and Dr. Short gave bond for $7,000. Others who gave bond were:

John D. Young, Daniel G. Wuerch, J. C. Mallard, John Edmiston, F. W. Leckel, Lester G. Grigsby and Leon Priver.

UNITARIAN CONFERENCE ELECTS OFFICERS.

ELGIN VOTES FOR BONDS.

Notice to Poultry Raisers

We are now manufacturing, under state license, the best brand of chicken food on the market, known as "SUPREME CHICKEN FOOD." This food is far superior to any brand of chicken food on the market today. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food & Drugs Act, June 30, 1906, serial No. 47673. Guaranteed analysis as follows:

CRUDE FAT	6 to 8 per cent.
PROTEIN	22 to 24 per cent.
FIBRE	7 to 9 per cent.

WHAT IS "SUPREME CHICKEN FOOD?"

It is a combination food consisting of meat scrap, steamed bone grit and a small percentage of clam shell grit; all clean and in a uniform size, and can be fed to large and small fowls. "SUPREME CHICKEN FOOD" is guaranteed to make your hens lay. It is the only ideal food for fall and winter use. Put up in 50 and 100 pound bags. Price per 50 pound bag $1.50. Price per 100 pound bag $3.00.

We are also manufacturing, under state license, the best brand of hog food on the market, known as "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD." It is far superior to any brand of hog food on the market today. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food & Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906, Serial No. 47672. Guaranteed analysis as follows:

CRUDE FAT	10 to 14 per cent.
CRUDE PROTEIN	52.50 to 60 per cent.
CRUDE FIBRE	1 to 3 per cent.
PHOSPHATE	10 to 12 per cent.

WHAT IS "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD" TANKAGE?"

It is a dark colored granular meal, made from meat residues, and it supplies the protein and phosphates necessary for compounding a balanced ration in the most economical and palatable form.

It contains phosphates in proper proportion to insure strength of bone and frame work. In the corn belt bone development is a matter of serious consideration.

It is not a substitute for corn, but a small quantity fed in connection with corn or other grains gives a balanced ration.

It is the most economical source of digestible protein known, containing twice as much protein as oil-meal and five times as much as middlings, shorts, shipstuffs, or alfalfa meal.

TANKAGE is recommended by all leading experiment stations. It is packed in one-hundred-pound burlap sacks, plainly marked "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD." Analysis as above. It is the ideal feed to balance rations.

WHAT "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD" TANKAGE DOES.

It develops bone and muscle in young pigs and makes them grow. It matures a hog for market in two and three months quicker than corn alone, thereby saving one-third of the feed bill, one-third of the labor, one-third of the risk, increasing profits one-third.

It grows better proportioned hogs, more meat, and more fat, hence market-topper hogs. "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD" Tankage fed hogs ship well with small shrink. While to no wise a medicine, it so fortifies and strengthens the system against attacks of disease germs that "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD" TANKAGE fed hogs are universally healthy. Manufactured by the Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The 31st annual meeting of the Lake Mohonk conference of Friends of the Indian and other dependent peoples assembled to day with a large attendance of philanthropists, educators, public officials and others interested in the welfare of the Indians, Filipinos and other peoples over whom the United States government has been placed in a position as guardianship. The sessions will continue to and including Friday evening and will be presided over by Dr. Elmer E. Brown, chancellor of New York university.

The Philippine discussion will deal with questions of administration, the independence issue raised by the Jones bill and the treatment of the Moros and other pagan tribes of the islands. The discussions relating to the American Indians will embrace a comprehensive inquiry into conditions among the so-called Five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma, revealed last winter while congress was devoting attention to the subject. Particular attention will be paid to the protection of the Indians from ruthless exploitation.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONS IN SPRINGFIELD GATHERING

Fifty Candidates Present for Honors—Musical Program Followed—Initiatory Exercises—Will Confer 32nd Degrees Today.

An important gathering of Masonic societies was held in Springfield yesterday and sessions will continue through today. The bodies meeting are the Supreme Lodge of Perfection, The Springfield Council of Princes of Jerusalem, the Springfield Chapter of the Rose Croix and the Springfield Consistory. In addition to the Jacksonville Masons mentioned as attending are H. J. Rodgers, J. Bart Johnson and Charles H. Ward.

Local and visiting members of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, Valley of Springfield, gathered at the Masonic temple Wednesday in the second session of the annual reunion. The fifty candidates for honors in the consistory were taken through the fifteenth and sixteenth degrees by the Springfield Council, Princess of Jerusalem.

The business session of the Jerusalem lodge was called at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. At 1:30 p. m. the degree of the East or Sword was administered to the waiting candidates. The degree of the Prince of Jerusalem was then administered and the seekers into the mysteries of Masonry were given into the charge of the Knights of the Rose Croix for the eighteenth degree.

The ceremonies of the Rose Croix began at 7:30 o'clock last night with the illustration of the mysteries of the Knights of the East and West. The ceremonies of the Knights of the Rose Croix were then given, taking the candidates through the eighteenth degree.

Following the initiation of the evening, a musical program was given in the rooms of the Temple building. The Rose Croix choir sang. The members of the choir were: Mrs. Louis Helmle, soprano; Mrs. Frank Cartridge, contralto; Clark B. Shipp, tenor; Ray Garrett, baritone; R. A. Guest, organist. Mr. John Taylor gave a number of solos on the violin.

The reunion will end this evening following the conferring of the thirty-second degree. The Springfield Consistory, S. P. R. S. will take charge of the candidates in the morning. The degree of Grand Pontiff and Prince of the Royal Secret will be given. Colonel R. S. Shand will be in charge of the work today.

This evening a special musical program will be given in which the Scottish Rite choir will sing and Miss Louise Helmle and Clark B. Shipp will give several solos.

MOTION PICTURES SHOW STYLES OF A HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Many See Old Costumes at Montgomery & Depepe's Fashion Reception—Present Styles Also Shown.

The Printzess Fashion reception given by Montgomery & Depepe at the Grand Opera house was well attended by the ladies of the city Wednesday afternoon and evening in spite of the bad weather. Beginning with 1804, the changes in women's dress were shown down to the costume of 1913, and the merits of Printzess garments were set forth by the experience of two ladies of fashion, Mrs. Laskerfield and Mrs. Carter Worthington, in preparing for the "Costume Pageant" of the Delaware Club and by the visit of one of them, Mrs. Lila Laskerfield, to the place of manufacture of Printzess clothes. The second reel, containing the costume pageant, showed the extensively buffed dresses of '54, the hoop skirts of '64 and the Grecian Bend of the next decade. At the end of the pageant of fashion, the ladies present, choosing the most perfectly attired of the company, voted the honor to Mrs. Laskerfield with her Printzess garments.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

Coach Conway of the Peoria High school football team is putting his men through some hard practice in preparation for the game against Jacksonville high school Saturday. The game to be played on Bradley field. The P. H. S. men state that they expect the game with Jacksonville to be the hardest struggle of their schedule. Stonebach, who was kicked in the back of the neck in the game with Ottawa a week ago, expects to be in the game Saturday and several dissenters of the team have reported for practice. The men held a practice game Tuesday with Bradley eleven.

Coach Buland gave his men a day of rest yesterday on account of the rainy afternoon. Tuesday a practice game was played against the School for the Deaf squad. While J. H. S. made a good showing against the Lincoln team the men are not going to take any risks against the Peoria high school, but expect to put up the best they have for the honors.

The Illinois college eleven were not able to use the field yesterday on account of the rain, but the squad was out just the same, running signals, studying formation, etc., on the lawn in front of the Jones building. Mitchell, who suffered an injury to one of his hands in the Normal game, will be able to get in line by Saturday when Bradley Polytechnic comes here.

According to dope from Bloomington Gherst of the Wesleyan team will be out of the game. The paper from there says: "A body blow was dealt the university football team yesterday when it became known that Gherst, the best offensive man on the team, who has been playing right-half-back, will not play any more this year, due to parental objection. In yesterday's practice Benjamin was shifted to end and Deal to quarter-back and the new combination worked well."

Quincy high school has lost her football field. Otto Wurl, manager of the team, has been advised by Mrs. Baldwin that the team could no longer use the field in Baldwin park and went farther and forbade Mr. Wurl to even so much as enter the park. Negotiations are under way for new quarters.

Arcola high school boasts of one of the fastest and strongest football teams in Central Illinois. Tuscola is reputed to have a good team and Arcola piled up the big score of 76 to 0 against them. Tuscola defeated Decatur high school at the beginning of the season by a score of 15 to 7.

Coach Ashmore of Millikin eleven is getting his men in shape for the game with Normal Saturday. The coach says his team lacks a fighting spirit and by the help of the scrubs some ginger is being injected in the regular team. The stinging defeat by Lake Forest has also occasioned a strengthening of the Millikin bunch. They should have no trouble in winning from Normal, although the Normal men are working hard to make a good showing.

O'HARA'S FATHER

BARRED FROM JOB. Washington, Oct. 22.—Two Illinois men, on the eve of receiving important appointments in the consular service, have been disqualified at the last minute. One is the father of Lieutenant Governor O'Hara. The elder O'Hara was for years in the service. Lately he sought reinstatement. The officials were about to welcome him back when it was discovered he was more than fifty years of age and ineligible. The other is Silas Rathbun of Pontiac. On the eve of appointing him consul in Costa Rica or Honduras the department discovered he also was past the 50-year age limit. Senator Lewis has made a protest, and there is some likelihood that the limit will be raised to 60 years.

NEW RECORD BEEF

Gilliland & Son of Wellsville, Mo. There were fifty-six head of cattle and they averaged 911 pounds. This is the highest price recorded this year and beats last week's high mark by 20 cents. The price of beef is soaring, $9 being a common figure as compared with $8 a month ago.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY
APPEALS CASE TO SUPREME COURT

After Thirty Years Litigation Wants High Tribunal to Decide Matter of Royalties and Rentals.

Washington, Oct. 22.—After thirty years of litigation in lower courts, the American Bell Telephone company today asked the supreme court to decide the amount of royalties and rentals it owes the Western Union Telegraph company under the contract of 1879, ending their rivalry in the telephone business. More than five million dollars is involved in the case.

By the contract of 1879, the Western Union was to retire from the business of renting telephones and to sell its subsidiary telephone patents to the Bell company. In return the latter was to pay the Western Union twenty per cent of the rentals or royalties from licenses or leases from "speaking telephones."

The Bell company entered into licenses and leases with many corporations throughout the country, receiving not only an annual rental, but in addition thirty-five per cent of the capital stock of these corporations. The present dispute is whether the Western Union is entitled to 20 per cent of the stock so acquired.

The court will probably announce within two weeks whether it will review the litigation in the lower courts, which decided in favor of the Western Union.

THOUSANDS PAY SILENT TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF ADOLPHUS BUSCH

Stand With Heads Bared and Bowed as Catafalque Is Taken From Special Train in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Oct. 22.—With heads bared and bowed a crowd of almost 10,000 persons stood in the rain here tonight out of reverence to the late Adolphus Busch, who died in Germany several weeks ago, while the catafalque bearing his body was taken from the special train from New York to his home.

Despite the ceaseless downpour of rain 5,000 employees of the million acre brewer stood near his home for thirty minutes awaiting the body's arrival. The funeral, which will be held next Saturday, is expected to be the largest ever witnessed in St. Louis.

Music at the funeral will be furnished by the St. Louis Symphony orchestra under the direction of Max Zach. Mr. Busch was one of the most liberal supporters of the orchestra. The body will lie in state at the Busch home Friday.

TO SECURE AID OF EXPERTS IN FRAMING AMENDMENTS

Committee Agrees That Task Must Be Done With Greatest Deliberation—Hearings Close Saturday.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Plans to secure the aid of experts to frame amendments to the proposed administrative currency bill were made today by the senate banking and currency committee. Hearings on the bill will be closed formally Saturday and then consideration of amendments will begin.

The members of the committee agreed that the framing of amendments must be done with the greatest deliberation and each one will be submitted to an expert qualified to judge of its effects.

Taylor Vinson, of Huntington, W. Va., one of the witnesses heard today, proposed an entirely new banking and currency scheme. He suggested the formation of a "treasury bank" through which the government itself should issue currency and extend rediscounts to national banks. He recommended that the collectors of internal revenue be made branch officers of this bank to pass on credits, pointing out that they would have at their disposal as credit information the returns under the income tax law.

The effect of the new law on national banks in Hawaii was called to the committee's attention by L. T. Peck, cashier of the First National Bank of Hawaii. He said the bill not only did not admit the national banks into the new system, but that it prejudiced privileges they now enjoyed under the law. He asked that the Hawaiian banks be allowed to retain their charters under present conditions.

EDITOR ASKS INJUNCTION TO STOP INTERFERENCE WITH PAGE

Claims That John C. Roberts and Edward S. Lewis Have Interfered With Policy of New St. Louis Times.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 22.—Frederick B. Warren, in charge of the editorial page of the New St. Louis Star, an afternoon newspaper, today filed suit in the circuit court, asking an injunction to restrain John C. Roberts and Edward S. Lewis interfering with his editorial control of the paper.

Mr. Roberts, who is a shoe manufacturer, recently bought control of the paper. Edward S. Lewis, who is associated with Roberts in the ownership of the paper, is president of the publishing company.

Mr. Warren claims that he has an eight year contract giving him absolute control of the policy of the paper, but that since Roberts bought control he has interfered with Warren in such a way as to injure the latter's financial interest in the publication.

Warren charges that Roberts and Lewis forced the paper to adopt an anti-woman suffrage policy, that they took a stand against union labor and against the disclosure of public and private corruption and that they discontinued the Sunday issue against his wishes. He also complains that they changed the name of the paper from the St. Louis Star to the New St. Louis Star.

ONE FIFTH OF CIVIL WAR VETERANS ARE ON PENSION ROLL

Fact Is Revealed By Annual Report of Commission Saltzabager—Ohio Leads With Largest Number.

Washington, Oct. 22.—More than one fifth of the men who served in the army and navy of the United States during the Civil War were still on the government's pension roll at the beginning of the present fiscal year. This was revealed today by the annual report of commissioner of Pension Saltzabager, showing that on January 1st last, there were 462,342 civil pensioners. THE JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL
Established 1843

Published by
JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL CO.

The supreme court of the United States fixed the social status of the liquor traffic when it branded it as an unparalleled source of misery and crime.

GRAND JURY FLAYS SALOONS.

The September grand jury at Pottsville, Pa., in a presentment to court declared that the crime wave which has brought Schuylkill county into wide notoriety is the fault of the county's numerous saloons. Schuylkill being called the "rum center of the United States."

The jury called attention to the facts that the jails and lunatic asylums are overcrowded with inmates from the districts where saloons are most numerous, and told the court that the remedy lay in cutting off the licenses of crime breeding establishments.

BLOCKED LEGISLATION.

This from the Chicago Tribune, just after the last general assembly adjourned:

"If the forty-eighth general assembly, just before it turned off the power and shut down the wheels, had voted to move the state capital to Peoria, the compliment to the liquor interests would have been neat."

"The small of liquor was on nearly every big question before the legislature. The interference of distillers and the organized saloon interests prevented the adoption of the initiative and referendum resolution. The same interference prevented the adoption of the resolution for a constitutional convention."

THE EIGHTH GRADE BUILDING.

The bids which have been received by the board of education for the proposed eighth grade building seem to those who are familiar with building costs to be very low. The fact that there has not been great activity in the building line no doubt had a tendency to make the contractors figure low and thus the city gets the benefit. A member of the board of education said yesterday that he believed that the entire building, with the exception of the heating, and including the cost of plans and superintendency could be erected for the money the board now has on hand. The bids for the complete structure are probably lower than could again be secured and it would seem advisable for the board to make arrangements for letting the entire contract now if the matter can be arranged in any legal way.

LIQUOR INTERESTS

AND SUFFRAGE. The leaders of the liquor forces have consistently fought woman suffrage in every state in the union it has been an issue. They fought it bitterly in this state. Everywhere that it has triumphed the political leaders of the saloon crowd have made a brave effort to convince themselves that the women will not injure the cause of the saloon and have made just as earnest an effort to convince the women that the liquor interests have always been their friends.

However, the more intelligent journals representing the trade are not minimizing the threatened danger from the ballots of the women, but are sounding a real note of alarm. The National Forum, of Butte, Mont., which was active in the fight against woman suffrage, expressed itself as follows:

There are some saloon men who are trying to deceive themselves by asserting that woman's suffrage will not hurt the liquor business. This is a mistake. Why not admit right on the start that the votes of women will not be cast in favor of the saloon. In a very few of the larger cities of states where women vote, the cities have voted wet notwithstanding the fact that woman suffrage is in force, but in hundreds and hundreds of the small towns, villages, and even in some cities of considerable size, the woman vote has hit the saloon business hard. The vote the saloon out of business is one of the reasons why women are asking for the franchise.

DUNNE AND O'CONNELL CONTINUE CONFERENCE ON APPOINTMENTS

Federal Attorneyship in This District is Given Particular Attention—Aspirant For Place Calls on Governor.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 22.—The conference between Governor Dunne and William L. O'Connell of Chicago, the governor's political adviser, regarding the distribution of the remaining majority appointments, was continued through today, but with the departure of Mr. O'Connell tonight for Chicago the governor made no announcement of appointments.

Federal patronage was also discussed, the federal attorneyship in this district being given particular attention. John A. Hogan, of Taylorville, an aspirant for the place, was among the callers at the executive office during the day.

WOMAN REPRESENTS OREGON

Washington, Oct. 22.—Miss Fern Bouda, private secretary of the governor of Oregon, and a lawyer, appeared in Washington today as the representative of the executive department of Oregon to adjust claims involving school and swamp lands, and to close up other cases that have been pending in Washington. She is one of the first women ever sent to the capital as the official representative of a state.

FIVE KILLED IN WRECK.

North Bay, Ont., Oct. 22.—Five persons were killed and seven injured on the main line of the Canadian Pacific near Weyland station, west of Cheltenham today when a work train returning to a gravel pit, collided head-on with an eastbound freight.

KEELEY RECOMMENDS STRICT ENFORCEMENT OF NATIONAL LAW

Publisher of Chicago Tribune Declares if Few Are Convicted of False Figures in Circulation Statements Newspapers Will Adhere to Truth.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Strict enforcement of the national law requiring publications to print their true circulation figures was recommended today by James Keeley, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, in addressing the Illinois Daily Newspaper association. Mr. Keeley started to speak on "Truthfulness and Candor in the Matter of Circulation," but before he left the speakers' platform he had been given the role of a witness with every other newspaper man present acting as cross examining attorney.

Chief among the questions was "What does the government mean by 'paid circulation' in the semi-annual statement which the postoffice requires?"

His reply was: "Subscription for which there is money in the cash drawer."

In describing the evils that newspapers had been led into as a result of untrue statements about circulation, Mr. Keeley said: "To my mind all examinations by association auditors are faulty. The examination of books, cash receipts, paper bills and carrier books is not enough. These may be fixed."

"The government's requirement of the published statement will give us a standard."

"If the government convicts a few persons of giving false figures in these statements there will be no further need of association auditors, because every newspaper will adhere to the truth."

A. M. Snook of the Aurora Beacon-News was elected president of the association. The directors for 1914 are: H. S. Chapman of the Rockford Star, H. N. Wheeler of the Quincy Journal, and H. F. Derwin of the Springfield Journal.

Car Runs Off Into Ditch in Rounding Sharp Curve—Motorman Says Brakes Failed to Work.

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 22.—W. R. Grier, Fort Wayne, Ind., was killed and Simon Davis, Parker City, Ind., probably fatally injured, and twenty-two other persons hurt when an Indiana Union Traction company car overturned in rounding a sharp curve six miles west of here tonight.

The car, bound from Muncie to Indianapolis, was running at a high rate of speed when it struck the curve. It ran along the ties for nearly a hundred yards, then off into a ditch where it landed bottom side up. Motorman T. C. Stanley told officials that the brakes failed to work.

GOLDMAN FOUND GUILTY.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 22.—Harry Goldman, proprietor of the Dr. Haux Spectacle Company, was found guilty in the federal court here today on a charge of using the mails to defraud. His brother, Morris Goldman, was acquitted. Harry Goldman explained that Morris was only an employee. The business of the firm aggregated $180,000 last year.

Had Planted a Quince.

The gardening season had opened, and in the train the usual boastful garden talk was in progress. "Have you got a quince in your garden?" asked the quiet man in the corner. There was a dead pause. "A quince, you mean?" suggested the botanist, politely. "No, a quince." "Ah, they're no good here," said the next man, confidently. "won't bloom in this soil, you'll find."

"I'm surprised you haven't got one," said the quiet man. "It was the first thing I planted after I laid out my garden—been quite a success with me." "How do you spell the name?" asked a novice (only three months married), respectfully, determined to look up the catalogues at once. But it was the common, not garden, dictionary that enlightened him. There says the Manchester Guardian he learned that a quince is an arrangement of five trees or plants, one at each of four corners and one in the middle. Next morning all the talk was of golf handicaps.

"Thirteen" Pursued Him.

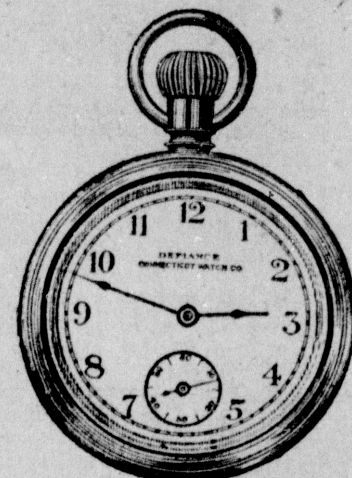

When the misfortunes of Gustaf Adolf IV. of Sweden were on him the king pointed out to the queen how the number thirteen had influenced his life: "Even the name Gustaf A-d-o-l-f IV. is thirteen letters. . . . I am the thirteenth king of Sweden from the time of Gustavus Vasa. At the age of thirteen I became king, and I reigned thirteen years after attaining my majority. I was made a prisoner on the 13th of March. It is now twenty-two times thirteen since Gustavus Vasa was elected king of Sweden in 1523, and seventeen times thirteen years since the death of Charles XII. in 1718; these added together produce the number 1800, the current year. . . . If you transpose the numbers one and three, which stand for thirteen, they make thirty-one, which is precisely my age now."

Curiously enough, he died in room No. 13 at the Weisses Rossli, St. Gallen—the date, Feb. 7, 1836—"An Exiled King."

PROMINENT WOMEN TO TESTIFY

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Many prominent women of Chicago will appear before the federal grand jury within the next few days. Subpoenas for them were made out today in connection with the government's charges against Miss Mabel Sturtevant, graduate of the law school of the University of Missouri, who is accused of using the mails to defraud.

that there has been a heavy death toll.

"The mine has been operated 15 years without an explosion before today. It has a most complete system of rescue work through a corps of first aid workers trained to enter the tunnels with oxygen supply in emergencies of this kind."

James Douglas, president of the company was at Douglas, Ariz., today, according to Mr. Dodge. His whereabouts was known to the mine officials and Mr. Dodge said Mr. Douglas probably would arrive in Dawson tomorrow.

Rescuers Leave Trinidad. Trinidad, Colo., Oct. 22.—Of 200 miners reported entombed in the Stag Canon mine at Dawson, N. M., this afternoon, one was rescued this evening.

No less than five mines are connected in the workings and it is thought if any of the miners escape death in the explosion they should be able to get to safety.

F. L. Miller, superintendent of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company rescue department, with a crew of trained rescuers, left here at 6 o'clock on a special car for Dawson. Oxygen helmets and other apparatus are being rushed to the scene.

The registration at the three points today was: North Platte, 2,422; Broken Bow, 2,639; Valentine, 1,042. North Platte leads in total registration.

(ADVERTISEMENT)

The Failure of the Anti-Saloon Movement as a Method in Solving the Liquor Problem.

The temperance lust that swung into line some years ago churches, T. A. societies, in the hope and belief that the first step was to abolish the saloon; have been compelled to abandon the Anti-Saloon League's program for many reasons. While there are here and there country churches with pastors who are not aware of the real program of their own denomination, yet all but one of the large Protestant bodies have felt compelled to organize their own Temperance society. In plain English, the Anti-Saloon League has failed. It has done some splendid work and accomplished much for its advocates. But it has woefully failed in the chief thing for which it was created, i. e., "to check the drink habit by removing the saloon." For such as really believe it wrong to drink even wines, it must be somewhat dis-couraging to read the report of the U. S. government ending June 30, 1913.

The appended table is from the Com. of Internal Revenue preliminary report:

	1912	1913	Increase
Spirits distilled from apples, peaches, grapes, pears, pineapples, oranges, apricots, berries, prunes, figs, and cherries.	2,449,331	2,801,767	352,436
Spirits distilled from materials other than apples, peaches, grapes, pears, pineapples, oranges, apricots, berries, prunes, figs and cherries, gal.	13,377,458	14,048,289	7,040,831
Wine made in imitation, etc., bottles, pint.	520	660	140
Fermented liquors, bbls.	62,108,633	65,245,544	3,136,911

If the sale of such products exceeds the rate of increase in population, how long before we will solve the liquor problem? One thing seems certain and that is: that where a large per cent of the population use such beverages, that the removal of the license not only fails to check the habit of drinking; but commonly throws the trade into a worse condition. The trade goes where it can be accommodated and as a question of morals, no fair minded person who values his reputation for veracity, knowing the facts can deny that the keg-parties which are so common in Jacksonville during the pleasant weather and those lured indoors now by the score every week, some for profit, some not; that those who can least afford the extra expense are put to it to secure what they want, that the silent testimony of the empty bottles all over the town, the increased express company traffic, beer shipments by freight; that all of this carried on as it is, is demoralizing far more than could obtain under a strict license.

This is not a question peculiar to this city. It is only one instance of the many that the method of refusing license, rather than imposing strict regulations, has not proved a remedy. There is strictly speaking not a real dry city or county in the U. S. A.

We may not believe in the way our European cousins are handling this question. But we may come back to the place soon where we will understand that you cannot accomplish a moral reform by law, by force—by coercion, and then we may realize, too, that a different method is not a sin, but a blessing.

CHILDREN HATE OIL,

CALOMEL AND PILLS

"California Syrup of Figs" Best for Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels—Tastes Delicious.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS

CONFERENCE.

Berlin, Oct. 22.—Twenty-eight countries are represented by delegates at the eleventh International Anti-Tuberculosis conference which opened here today and will remain in session until Sunday. One of the most interesting features of the conference will be the reports from the various countries represented as to the methods employed for waging war upon tuberculosis and the results achieved by these methods. Although no positive "cure" for the disease can be reported, encouraging progress will be recorded toward the control of the disease by natural restorative means, fresh air and by modern methods of sanitation, disinfection and isolation.

Dr. F. F. Friedmann, the alleged discoverer of a curative serum, did not apply for a place upon the program and it is expected that no great enthusiasm will be manifested by the delegates to the conference concerning his "turtur serum." The delegates will be given an opportunity, however, to see and to examine the patients to whom Dr. Friedmann based his original claims of success.

HEMPSTEAD DENIES REPORT.

Ottumwa, Iowa, Oct. 22.—President Hempstead and Scout Kinsella of the New York Nationals, who arrived with the Giants and White Sox on their world tour, stated today that there was nothing to the report that First Baseman Kinsella of St. Louis would become the property of the New York club in exchange for any New York player. A letter was produced to show that New York was not ready to make a trade.

BAKER MAY QUIT GAME.

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—Baseball fans in this city were startled this afternoon when a report became current that John Franklin Baker, third baseman of the Athletics baseball team, the world's champions, might quit the game to enter upon a business career. It was said that while Baker has not yet decided upon his future plans, he is seriously considering such a step.

INTERNATIONAL DRY FARMING CONGRESS.

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 22.—In the presence of thousands of visitors representing nearly every section of the United States, Canada, Mexico and many of the Central and South American republics, the eighth International Dry Farming congress and exposition was opened here today. The exposition is held upon a plot of 120 acres and more than thirty nations are represented by the remarkable exhibits contained in six large buildings and several temporary pavilions. Particularly interesting are the exhibits of the dry farming states of the arid west and northwest of the United States and of the western provinces of Canada. One of the features is the government exhibit showing their marketable results obtained by irrigation and dry farming methods in regions where the annual rainfall is extremely small. The dry farming congress will remain in session until the end of the present month and the exposition will open during that time to give the delegates an opportunity to study dry farming methods.

SOME OFF-SIDE CHUTES.

If the story sent out from Milwaukee be true, Old Fox Clark Griffith has double-crossed Comiskey in the latter's endeavor to secure George McBride for his world-touring White Sox. The Washington manager accompanied the Old Roman to Milwaukee Monday supposedly for the purpose of using his influence with his shortstop to sign for the big trip. Previous to the visit, however, a press dispatch states, Griffith tipped off McBride and the latter hiked to the north woods on a hunting expedition, and of course was not "at home" when Comiskey and his committee called. Charles Albert is going to camp upon Mac's trail, and will sign him or know the reason why. McBride's business interests, his friends claim, will need no more of his time the coming winter than it has during the past summer.

Purdue is following in the wake of the Aggies and has stationed a cordon of armed students around its football enclosure to shoot down any of the "bold, bad men" who may be bent upon stealing the Boilermakers' secret practice stunts. The Lafayette coach is worried lest his offensive formations and his plays would in some way become known in rival camps. Picketing during a strike in Hoosierdom is punishable by fine and imprisonment, and this same Purdue college has been known upon more than one occasion to furnish strike breakers to different "struck" concerns "just for the fun of totting a gun, to get a shot at a striker." When they went on these expeditions their mentors were always to the front with the excuse that they were "assisting to put down anarchy." Guarding a football campus with rifles is not anarchy. It is a threat to massacre.

Mike Gibbons, who lays claim to the welterweight championship, announces that he will meet Packey McFarland in a ten-round go provided he is allowed to weigh in at 145 at 3 o'clock upon the afternoon of the match. McFarland's answer has not as yet been published; but it would be the height of folly upon his part to backwater one inch from the challenge he issued in New York one week ago today—142 pounds ringside. This is the legitimate welterweight, and to weigh in at 145 pounds at 3 o'clock would bring Gibbons into the ring at 10 o'clock balancing the scale at 150 pounds, the minimum middleweight.

Manager Clark of Milwaukee ten days ago announced that he would not accept Ted Easterly as part payment for Chappell. He then stated Comiskey must furnish him a young man, otherwise there would be no deal. Comiskey says he had no intention of sending Ted to the minors. He is too valuable in a pinch. Instead of giving Milwaukee any of his young catchers he will pay into the Milwaukee treasury $1,500, the equivalent.

The rumor to the effect that Willie Hoppe was to engage in an international championship match with Firmin Cassagnol in Paris is all fog. The American champion says he is ready and willing, but that as yet no match has been arranged. The French promoters must deposit a suitable guaranty to cover his expenses before he will consent to cross the ocean.

Harlem Tommy Murphy's manager made financial demands for a "go" with Charley White in Ad Wolgast's stock which the Milwaukee promoter could not see, and has been turned down. Murphy was decisively welcomed by Packey McFarland in New York last Friday, and Matchmaker Mulken of the Cream City believes a guaranty of $2,000 is much more money than the Harlem boy is capable of coaxing into the box office.

The outcome of the Saylor-Welsh boxing encounter at Winnipeg on Monday night is creating quite a stir among the sports. Welsh was knocked out by the Indianapolis boy, and it was not until after a very heated discussion that the referee, Foley, awarded the decision to the Britisher on a foul, although at the time the sleep-producer landed no foul had been claimed. Boxing matches at Winnipeg always have been difficult problems to solve. It is now you win, and then upon second thought you lose—if you happen to be from the states.

Jess Willard and ten others engaged in the fight in which "Bull" Young lost his life in Los Angeles a short time ago, must stand trial for prize fighting, as a California judge has ruled. The indictment for manslaughter has been quashed, the state's prosecutor electing to push the case upon the minor charge.

William E. Parker, a University of Maine football star, survived hundreds of difficult jolts upon the gridiron to be electrocuted in a Worcester, Mass., street railway transformer station on Tuesday, when 15,000 volts of electricity passed through his body from a feed wire.

Stomach Trouble and Constipation Cured. "I was sick for three years with stomach trouble and constipation, doctored continually with different physicians, with only temporary relief," says Mrs. Hester Waite, of Antwerp, Ohio. "A friend advised me to try Chamberlain's Tablets, which I did, and continued to use them for one year, and they completely cured me, not only of the stomach trouble but also of the constipation." For sale by all dealers.

THE TEMPERATURES.

The temperatures for Wednesday, according to G. H. Hall, weather observer at Alexander, were, maximum 38 and minimum 34. A precipitation is reported of .59 inch.

HOW TO WASH BLANKETS.

You must never rub soap upon wool blankets, and they must never be put into water of different temperatures. Any of the many white soaps are good for washing wool blankets. Cut up two bars of soap and boil them in eight quarts of water. When it is all dissolved turn four quarts into a tub half full of tepid water, with a half cupful ammonia added. Put your blankets in this and rise them up and down and rub them and squeeze them through the hands. Unless there are very bad spots do not rub them on the board.

After they have been treated in this way until you are sure that they are fairly clean put them in another tub of water the same temperature to which you have added the three quarts of soapy water and go through the same treatment as you did at first. Take them out and put them into still another tub of water the same temperature and add to this water the remaining quart of soap. Never rinse blankets in clear water. Put them through the wringer and hang them up to dry in a rather warm place—in the sun if possible.

Pull and straighten them into shape. If they are very fine blankets quite a good way to dry them is to put them on a curtain frame and stretch them down; otherwise you must be very careful to stretch them and pull them straight by hand.

Never put anything made of wool into very hot water, as it fills and thickens it. If you have cotton quilts "like mother used to make" these can be laundered very easily if you have a washing machine (and surely every woman who has a large family should have one). Use the same soapy water made a little stronger than was given for washing the blankets and put them in the machine and rinse them in clear cold water.

The Old Time Calico Gown.

Is there anything sweeter than a wholesome looking girl in a fresh calico dress? All the silks and satins and laces and charmense gowns and fenderols in the world can't make the girl one whit sweeter or more desirable or better to look at. And yet somehow we ignore that fact and go on depleting our pocketbooks by buying the things that cost a lot of money and which we fondly believe enhance our charm.

A pink and white calico and a pink and white girl, or something with blue sprigs in it that match the blue of her eyes, or a red checked affair that carries out the scarlet in her lips—not a drug store scarlet either, but the real thing in lips and color—can you imagine anything better, though it costs more?

Maybe the girl made the dress herself, thus adding to its charm, for there'll be little individual touches in the homemade gown that no factory can give.

Homemade gowns dowdy? Not much! Some of the best fashioned gowns parading our streets today were made at home, though the fact is carefully concealed.

We're such snobs and so afraid of other snobs that we'll lie like troopers to hide the fact that we honestly toil to save a few dollars.

Don't you remember how nice and fresh the women folk looked, and how pleasantly clean they smelled, and how perfectly beautiful you thought mother was in the light blue calico with the pink rosebuds?

Somewhat they were rosier and brighter-eyed than the women of today, who think nothing of wearing a silk gown while doing up the supper dishes. They didn't wear the impatient frown that we see so often now.

And father didn't have that harassed look nor the prematurely graying hair, and he took time to play with the kiddies and to talk something besides expenses with mother instead of using all his energy trying to make ends meet.

A Veil and a Small Hat.

When putting on the veil arrange the garters in position; then place the thumbs just below the ears, allowing the veil to rest in the spaces between them and the first fingers. Raise the hands slowly, gathering the veil into tidy folds until the center of the back of the hat is reached; then tie the veil once, tuck away the ends neatly and pin them inside the brim of the hat.

Take a flat veil brooch and secure the folds with this just above the neck. This helps to keep both the hair and veil tidy and does away with that very unsightly "screw" which one sees under the chins of so many women of this country, but never in the toilet of an immaculate Frenchwoman.

The Housekeeper's Hands.

Mutton tallow with a little sulphur added is healing and whitening. When the hard work of the day is done rub well into the skin. Keep a supply of Indian meal near your soap dish. Every time you wash your hands rub the meal thickly on them after soaping.

Wooden Spoon. It is wisest to use a wooden spoon for all stirring purposes in the kitchen, as acids do not form compounds which are dangerous to digestion with wood.

A New Theory of Tides.

The shrewd explanation of the phenomenon of the tides that an old South Brooklyn fisherman gave is hereby recommended to the attention of scientific men. The Brooklyn Times reports it.

"Uncle Joe," some one asked him, "do you know what causes the tides?" The old man looked profound and admitted:

"Waal, I hev some idee." "Explain it to us, please."

"Uncle Joe would not be hurried, but after some urging he answered:

"You've turned over in bed, I think likely?" "Certainly."

"And when you went over the bed-clothes kind o' slipped round and slobbered round and didn't get there at the same time you did?" "Yes."

"Waal, that's the way o' the tides. The old world slips round inside o' the sea like a man under the bed-clothes, and that's what makes the tides. It's easy enough after you understand it."

Not Celebrating. There used to be a city editor on Park row who was not exactly beloved by some of his men. His health failed and he obtained leave of absence of some weeks to go to Florida.

The staff decided to offer him a little farewell testimonial of regard, especially as his birthday chanced to fall on the date of his departure.

One of the copy readers, who was in charge of the fund, met in a cafe a former reporter for the paper, who had been discharged a few weeks before.

"Say," said the copy reader, "we're raising money to send a little floral design up to the old man's flat, and I thought maybe you might like to contribute, seeing as you used to work for him."

"I'll be tickled to death!" said the reporter. "Nothing could give me more pleasure! When's the funeral?"

"Funeral?" echoed the collector. "These flowers are for his birthday!" "Give me that dollar back," said the reporter emphatically.—Saturday Evening Post.

A Famous Pirate.

On the 23d of May, 1706, Captain William Kidd, the famous pirate, was executed at Execution dock, London. Several others of Kidd's company were executed with him. The summary putting to death of these pirates did much to rid the seas of piracy. Kidd, who was the most daring of all the pirates of history, exemplified the worst of his kind. Although his exploits have been greatly exaggerated, there is no doubt that he was guilty of desperate crimes. His daring led others to emulate him, and the commerce of the world suffered much because of the depredations of the pirates. England was the principal sufferer at the hands of the high sea raiders, and accordingly England was most interested in their capture. Kidd's execution began a new era of commercial activity on account of the greater security enjoyed by merchantmen on the high seas.

The Tongues of Belgium.

Belgium is largely a bilingual country and to a certain extent trilingual. This is indicated by official statistics, which indicate that 746,140 of the population more than fifteen years of age speak Flemish and French, that 65,657 speak French and Walloon, and that 7,237 speak Walloon and Flemish. The three languages are spoken by 49, 260, so that 819,043 of the inhabitants of Belgium are bilingual and 49,300 trilingual. The number of Belgians who speak only one language is 4,262, 142 and Flemish and French are pretty evenly divided between them, the speakers of French numbering 2,132, 957 and of Flemish 2,129,185. There are 6,646 returned as speaking none of the three languages in vogue in the country, but the medium in which they convey their thoughts is not indicated.

The Planet Mars.

As to the habitability of Mars, the planet popularly regarded as offering the nearest approach to a duplication of earthly conditions, E. Walter Maunder, E. R. A. S., in "Are the Planets Inhabited?" is uncompromisingly negative. A consideration of the Martian temperature and atmosphere leads him to this conclusion:

"What we know of Mars shows us a planet icebound every night, but with a day temperature somewhat above freezing point. As we see it, we look upon its warmest regions, and the rapidity with which it is cleared of ice, snow and cloud shows the atmosphere to be rare and the moisture little in amount and readily evaporated. These seas are probably shallow depressions filled with ice to the bottom, but melted as to their surfaces by day. From the variety of tints noted in the seas and the recurrent changes in their outlines, they are composed of congeries of shallow pools, fed by small, sluggish streams. Great ocean basins into which great rivers discharge themselves are quite unknown."

The Case Altered.

An attache of the American embassy at Paris tells the following as illustrative of the sort of sentiment which the French system of marriage de convenience produces:

Clarimonde, a young lady, announces to her parents that she has accepted the hand of M. Blanc.

"Child, you are mad!" exclaims Clarimonde's mother.

"But why, mamma?" "Young Blanc will have no money for many years, because it all belongs to his grandfather, and after that comes his father, and you will be old before you get at the property."

"But, mamma?" "No buts about it. You are a bad and undutiful child!"

"But, mamma, it is the grandfather whom I have accepted!" "The grandfather? Oh, you little angel!"—Lippincott's.

THIS SPACE IS CONTROLLED BY THE PUBLICITY COMMITTEE OF THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

Rockford Way of Doing Things

As a city Jacksonville has been classified for the last half dozen years in the dry column. The men of this community, in the past, have had the courage and the manhood to go out and cast their influence on the side of moral and civic righteousness. With a very large number of this act on their part has been the end of their feeling of responsibility.

The dry forces of Jacksonville have never been thoroughly organized, they have never acted in concert, they have never been militant EXCEPT for a few weeks prior to a local option campaign. What has been the result? Wet sympathizers interpreting and enforcing dry laws. It may be argued that the law is the law and should be enforced no matter what the personal view of the officer. Good logic but miserable practice.

However, in spite of the lack of close and constant cooperation on the part of the dries, the dry regime has been far from failure in Jacksonville. The saloon is no longer an established institution and the community is free from the evil consequences that everywhere prevail where tolerance of the saloon obtains.

The present campaign should have as its slogan "KEEP JACKSONVILLE DRY AND THEN SEE IT THAT DRY MEN ARE DOMINANT IN THE POSITIONS OF PUBLIC RESPONSIBILITY." When we do this we will not only be classified in the dry column, but we will take rank with Rockford as a dry city, in which dryness has been a bigger asset to the municipality than wetness ever pretended to be. Where the business man and retailer fights the competition of the saloon as he fights the competition of the mail order house, THE CITY OF ROCKFORD, WHERE THE EXPULSION OF THE SALOON PLUS THE DOMINANT INFLUENCE OF THE DRY FORCES IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS HAS INCREASED PROSPERITY IN ALL LINES OF BUSINESS ACTIVITY.

The cause of the grog shop from the moral angle has been silenced so completely and so overwhelmingly by the red hot shots of press, platform, pulpit and defying statistics that no one of enlightenment in these days will make any pretense to defend the saloon as a moral institution. If it is an immoral institution then why should it be tolerated. Silence prevails in the present campaign when the moral side of the issue is broached. Well it should be.

Emphasis is laid locally upon the business or economic side. REGULATION OF THE SALOON is forced upon our attention. The citizen is urged to consider the vast increase in business activity that the saloon will bring with it. The saloon advocate thus appeals to the sordid side of man's nature and by false premises and cleverly constructed lines of reasoning hopes to silence heart and brain and make him indulge in a false kind of speculation that may look plausible to his pocket-book interests.

Nevertheless on this battle ground the ANTI-SALOON ADVOCATE IS NOT FEARFUL of his antagonist. We will employ the interrogation point in our argument.

What has become of the paid advertisement of the large number of vacant houses in Jacksonville?

A piece of campaign literature, conspicuous by its absence in this campaign, but whose employment a few years ago it was thought would be a bomb shell in the camp of the opposition.

It proved to be a bubble easily punctured. What about the destruction of the cigar industry in Jacksonville?

It flourishes today in all its vigor and there are probably more shops operating now than ever before. Another false alarm sounded.

How about bank clearings? Vast sums it was asserted would leave the city for liquor if the saloons were closed. What are the facts?

The bank clearings show an increase of over $2,000,000 during a dry period in which the appreciable gain in population has not even been a factor in the figures.

Now as to municipal improvement. When with saloon revenues, did the city expend $40,000 without a bond issue in an effort to increase its water supply?

To what great resources of municipal improvement can the saloon advocate point as an evidence of the good accomplished through the medium of grog shop receipts? Where are the civic monuments built under saloon administration from saloon license revenues?

Conspicuous by their absence. Increased grand jury expenses, police court trials, city prison and county board bills, poor farm expense items will more than overbalance the receipts from saloon regime to say nothing of a balance of civic development.

LET US KEEP JACKSONVILLE DRY AND THEN LEARN THE ROCKFORD WAY OF DOING THINGS.

Here is the Rockford record along business and economic lines. Look at it. Read it. Let us become imbued with the spirit of the new Chicago motto "Where we Will there's a Way", and after putting Jacksonville in the dry column again, determine to make its record as conspicuous as the city of Rockford.

Saloonless City Not Only Possible But Profitable—Retailers Reap Rich Rewards Under Dry Regime.

The record of Rockford as told by Mayor W. W. Bennett:

"Rockford, Illinois, with a census population of 45,491 is the county seat of Winnebago county, 100 miles northwest of Chicago. It is a city of more than 400 manufacturing establishments, a cosmopolitan citizenship, with the Swedish race predominating, and furniture factories the leading manufacturing implements in the United States, and second in the United States in the manufacture of furniture.

"Four years ago, Rockford, under the township option law, had a two-year dry period, with the people learning, toward the end of the period, the benefits to be derived in a saloonless city, but not thoroughly awakened to all the possibilities that it contained.

"A lapse of two years again in which fifty-three saloons were licensed, the adoption of the registration law, and the vote again of the township which declared the saloons an outlaw on May 7, 1912.

"AS A PURELY BUSINESS PROPOSITION and one that is daily growing upon the sensibilities of the men who are actively engaged in trade and in manufacturing, it is becoming apparent that a SALOONLESS CITY, made so by a referendum vote, in which the LAWS ARE ENFORCED BY OFFICIALS WHO BELIEVE IN THE PRINCIPLES OF TEMPERANCE, is not only possible but profitable.

"The local option law is as well respected and is as rigidly enforced as any other law on the statute books or any ordinance of the city. The benefits to be derived from a saloonless city are appreciated, not only by the overwhelming majority of the retailers and men doing business on the street, but by the bankers whose total deposits at this time are nearly $1,000,000 more than they were a year ago, with $240,000 of this amount in savings the employers of labor who are able to keep a steadier class of workmen, and by the workmen, themselves, who in the past, having been the backbone of the city's growth and development, have learned THAT A CHECK CASHED IN THE GROCERY STORE MEAT MARKET, OR CLOTHING STORE, GOES FARTHER FOR THE FAMILY'S GOOD THAN WHEN CASHED IN THE SALOON, where as an act of courtesy it becomes necessary to spend a part of it with the bartender.

"Rockford has never enjoyed a greater period of prosperity than at the present time. MERCHANTS REPORT MORE GOODS SOLD FOR CASH, AND CONSEQUENTLY LESS CREDIT GIVEN. There is a great demand for houses for rent, real estate market active, great demand for labor at the highest wages ever paid. City is closing its fiscal year with a record of standing well at the front in amount expended with the record in amount expended and results obtained in public improvements is credited with record of having the fewest policemen or any city of its size in the United States, and freedom from labor troubles."

To me the proudest boast this city can make and her greatest asset is the fact that she occupies a position in the state in which she has no competitor—that there is no such thing as segregated vice or a recognized red light district—that this city is demonstrating to the country her ability not only to pay all fixed charges consequent upon running a large municipality without the revenue from the licensed saloon, but that it stands fully abreast of the times in all things that are for the public good."

WILL INVESTIGATE WAGE REDUCTIONS

SECRETARY REDFIELD REITER-ATES FORMER STATEMENT.

Department of Commerce Says Firms Cutting Wages With Tariff as Excuse Must Show Cause—Bureau of Standards Is Advocated

Flint, Mich., Oct. 22.—Notice was served on employers of labor tonight by Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce, that he had not abandoned his intention under certain conditions to investigate "general" reductions of wages made under the plea that the new tariff compelled retrenchment. The secretary voiced his views in an address before the Flint board of commerce.

No Menace in Department Plans. "When it was suggested some months ago," he said, "that the inquiry powers of the department might under certain conditions be used to learn whether conditions in any general industry were such as to justify a reduction of wages when alleged to be made because of tariff changes, there appeared very general comments on the alleged action, which comments were chiefly remarkable for their vigor in dealing did not exist. An attitude of courteous candor, which was not for a moment misunderstood by the gentlemen who were directly concerned, was so altered in the telling of it as to put the department in the position of menacing individuals and establishments with hostile intrusion, if excuse could be found for so doing."

"When the direful results which prophets of evil foretold did not occur the facile imaginations of some editors led them to say that the secretary of commerce had withdrawn from his attitude. The secretary of commerce has done no such thing. He accepts no responsibility for the vagaries remarks they would have had him say and which they would like to criticize. The views expressed in the address, because of which all the dust arose, have not been changed and the action that was suggested in that address will be taken if the circumstances suggested therein should arise and seem to make it necessary."

Bluff Will Not Work. "Meanwhile the department will not be 'bluffed' by those who wish it to err into action which would have for the sole basis of its existence the hope of some that it might make a mistake."

The secretary declared that the threats of reduction in wages as a result of the Underwood tariff law had become few of late. That he attributed directly to the declaration of the administration that it would act promptly where such threats were made out.

"The fact that powers exist," he said, "in hands that will use them if, and only if, general and sufficient cause shall appear for such use and will then use them conservatively and considerably if at all, seems to have had a sobering effect upon those who would make the wages of the laborer a fulcrum on which to poise their political arguments."

Public Utility Corporation. Investigation of public utilities corporations, said the secretary, was a line of inquiry his department proposed to begin. The inquiry would be made by the bureau of standards and it would be conducted in a spirit of entire friendliness and with the object in view of aiding both the corporations themselves and the public utilities commissions of the states and cities. Congress is to be asked to appropriate $100,000 to begin the work.

"This fund," explained Mr. Redfield, "would be used to enable the bureau of standards to carry on such investigations as would fix standards of service for public utility companies that would assist the public service commissioners of the states and cities and other authorities in regulation and control of these utilities. There is no suggestion or idea that in this connection the bureau of standards would exercise any legal authority whatever; no more so than it does in its other scientific standardizing work."

Wide Field for Activities. "There is, however, a wide field for the activities of this scientific bureau in carrying on and publishing investigations of a purely technical character for the purpose of establishing standards and methods that may be adopted generally by state and municipal commissions. Uniformity of process and of requirements is greatly needed and without some co-ordinating agency which is impartial and disinterested it is hard, if not impracticable, to secure such uniformity."

"Two parties, one a city, or a state, the other a public service company, may disagree. Who is to be the arbitrator? on say the court, but the question is a technical one and upon what standard of technical is the arbitrator? You say the court base its action? It is of the greatest importance that all state and municipal commissions should possess full technical information in regard to utilities which they are required to regulate in order that they may act intelligently and justly as between utilities companies and the public. If the public is to have a square deal there must be just as good information in the hands of the public service companies."

Woman's World

Mrs. Harriet Johnston Wood Wants to Be Judge.

MRS. HARRIET JOHNSTON WOOD.

Mrs. Harriet Johnston Wood, a practicing lawyer of New York city, is seeking appointment as judge in the children's court. In a recent interview Mrs. Wood said: "There is a movement inaugurated by the clubwomen of New York city to have a law passed making the appointment of women mandatory in this court."

"The understanding of children is instinctive with women, and such knowledge as they are not born with they acquire through experience. What man can compare his judgment in a case affecting the welfare of a child with that of a woman?"

According to the annual report of the court of special sessions for the year 1912, 13,422 children were charged with juvenile delinquency and assigned in the special proceedings in the children's courts. Of these the majority were boys. The report shows further that most of the girls who were brought before the court during that period were from fourteen to sixteen years of age.

Horse Trot and Fish Walk Now. Vale the turkey trot and the tango. Society is weary of these much discussed dances, and, having lost favor, the trot and the tango are on the road to the realm of the forgotten.

The "horse trot" and the still newer "fish walk" are the prime favorites of the present moment, and earnest seekers after the latest approved novelty are putting themselves through both paces. Both dances originated in Washington, the horse trot more than a year ago and the fish walk within the last few months.

The horse trot is a livelier dance than either the tango or the turkey trot and is entirely devoid of the characteristics which brought upon the two one time favorites the thunders of the clergy and the nondancing lady. In this newest trot the partners face each other and the man places his right hand in the center of his partner's back, holding her at arm's length and at one side. He looks over her right shoulder and she directs her gaze over his right shoulder. The dance starts with a running step of eight counts, the man going forward. The dancers then proceed to trot back eight steps, the woman advancing, after which alternately they trot eight steps to the right and eight to the left before they sidestep sixteen counts, turning to the right for eight counts and to the left for eight. A trot forward and back for eight counts each before coming to a balance step of sixteen counts completes the dance.

The horse trot and fish walk are primarily dances for young men and women. They are dashed at a lively tempo in two-four measure, and fatty degeneration of the heart or an impaired breathing apparatus is entirely out of place when the new dance tunes start. The fish walk, the intricacies of which are now engaging the energies of dancing at the national capital, starts with a skipping step, the man going forward sixteen counts and retreating sixteen counts. The partners then take four sliding steps to the right and four to the left to compete the dances.

The fish walk is danced entirely on the toes, the body is moved only from the waist downward, the head is held high, and the tempo is pitched at a lively gait. The music runs along to a straight simple tune, gay and cheery, with little of the syncopation which has distinguished the dance music of the last few years.

A Good Idea.

Serial stories can be taken out and bound. Any one who understands book-binding can get really beautiful books in this way. But the woman who does not understand this art can cover pieces of pasteboard a little larger than the magazine page with cloth, carefully folded over and pasted down on the wrong side about the edges. The inside of the cover made neat by a square of cloth or paper pasted over the edges of the covering of the other side. Two of these covers with half a dozen holes punched half an inch from the back edges can be fastened together over the story by means of silk cords run through neat corresponding holes in the pages of the story.

Milady's Mirror

To Keep Young and Attractive.

Summer is beauty's trying time, says Lillian Young. It takes art to be beautiful when the mercury is climbing high and to persist in sweet amiability, which keeps one young and attractive, when the sun seems bent upon burning one to a crisp. The summer girl, however, manages it.

In fact, it is because she does manage it so successfully that she is a "summer girl," the one who walks away with all the beaux and is at once the envy and delight of the women with whom she comes in contact. But let me tell you that, besides being real art, being a summer girl entails real work. One must be the acme of tidiness, yet always suggest having hustled through one's toilet, and one must be, as already intimated, cheerful and healthful. Hooks and eyes must be always in place on clothes, and there should be plenty of them.

Needless to say, there must be numbers of pretty frocks, for the summer girl is on parade all the time, day and evening. The frocks need not be expensive, but they must be distinctive and appropriate for the moment. Commonplaces have no part with the summer girl. Frills, collars, handkerchiefs—everything of the sort must be immaculate. In short, absolute cleanliness and perfect grooming to the least detail are the first of the summer girl's laws unto herself. No matter how insouciant, how ready for anything, how fancy she seems, she is never frowny or messy looking.

Her complexion she is careful of, although no one knows it except by its inevitable freshness, which could be only through care and attention. No matter how sleepy she is after the dance at night or the stroll in the moonlight, she anoints her face, neck and arms with a cleansing cream, allowing it to remain on while she takes down her hair and plaits it loosely in two braids. Then the cleansing cream is removed with a soft cloth, the face doused with very hot water and a skin food rubbed gently in while the face is still wet. Only the mildest of skin foods and creams are used, preferably those in which there is neither glycerin nor any other strong astringent, for summer suns and winds tend to make the skin tender, and any but the most soothing lotions will increase that tendency rather than have any healing effect.

The hands are kept thoroughly washed, scrubbed with the flesh brush and pumiced, if need be, partially dried, and then vaseline should be rubbed briskly in and large gloves drawn on. Oh, yes, and she doesn't neglect her elbows. They are properly pumiced and cleansed also.

In the morning the face is washed in hot water, which opens the pores, followed by a dousing of cold water, which closes them. Then there is a dusting powder to protect the skin; the hands are washed with soap and water, rinsed in lukewarm water, not hot; dusted with the protecting powder, and the summer girl is ready to saunter forth for the day.

While she exercises a plenty, golfing, playing tennis, walking, she rarely allows herself to be overfatigued—the summer girl—and she insists, in spite of everything, upon having a tiny nap every day, even if it be only for twenty minutes.

Rubber Complexion Brushes.

There has been a marked improvement in the rubber brushes for the complexion, the body and the teeth. To begin with, the newest styles have flexible backs of perforated rubber and are oval in shape. The brush portion, instead of having a series of rubber teeth, has irregular knife-like ridges. These brushes can be bought without the handle, or a handle of imitation ivory can be attached, which will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of the user. There is quite as much demand for the bath size, to be used in rubbing the body, as for the smaller face size, which brings the blood to the tissues of the skin in such a satisfactory way. Women who are particularly fastidious in regard to hygiene like these brushes because they can be easily and quickly sterilized by dipping them into a solution of carbolic acid. The smaller brushes sell for 75 cents and a dollar, and the larger bath brush with the removable handle retails for $2. The toothbrushes made in the same general style are no more expensive than the regulation product, which sells for 35 cents.

Murky Appearance.

At this season of the year the neck begins to show the effects of high collars, dark furs and other mediums that give the skin a murky appearance. Always extend the use of the cleansing cream used to keep the face smooth and clear to the neck and well up into the hair at the back.

To eradicate discolorations caused by high or dark collars there is no remedy more effective than the common or garden variety of lemon juice. Select firm, juicy lemons and apply the juice to the skin after all traces of dust or grime have been removed either with soap and water or with cleansing cream. The cucumber remedies are also used with much success, although one must be sure they are as represented, else it will be a case of wasting time and money.

CHILDREN HATE OIL CALOMEL AND PILLS

Rub Soreness From Joints and Muscles With a Small Trial Bottle of Old St. Jacobs Oil. Stop "dosing" rheumatism. It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. "St. Jacobs Oil" conquers pain. It is a harmless local rheumatism cure which never discolors the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia and reduces swelling.

Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness.—Adv.

FEDERAL GAME WARDEN. E. V. Visarts of Little Rock, Ark., has been appointed federal game warden, which is quite a compliment, as there are not many to be named. For some time he has been employed by the sportsmen of the state to look after the game and the new federal law will be welcome to the hunters of that state. Mrs. Visarts is a sister of Mrs. James A. Groves of this city.

PRINTER

Printype— OLIVER Typewriter

Printype is owned and controlled exclusively by The Oliver Typewriter Company.

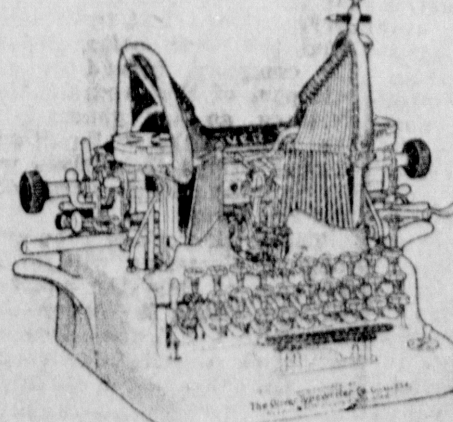

America rings with praise and applause for Printype. This superb new typewriter type has attracted more attention than any typewriter innovation brought out in recent years.

Hundreds of thousands of people have seen this new type and wondered what it was that made Printype correspondence seem like a spoken message. There's virility, strength and charm in Printype correspondence. There's refinement and "class" and style.

Not because of its novelty—it's inherent in the type.

A Vast Improvement

Printype is designed in shaded letters and numerals, like the type in which books and magazines are printed. It is book type transformed and adapted to modern typewriter requirements.

Vigilant protector of people's eyesight, hailed a benefactor by many thousands of enthusiastic admirers. "Officer Printype" responds with becoming modesty.

Officer Printype says: "I am overwhelmed by the ovation which has greeted my appearance in your midst. I am simply doing my sworn duty in ridding the Business and Financial Districts of the Bad Characters that for years have made Typewriters a menace to your eyesight. I have mercilessly exposed and relentlessly pursued these dangerous Typewriter Types, which are responsible for more cases of Defective Vision than all other causes combined."

"Report direct to my Headquarters, in the Oliver Typewriter Building, Chicago, any machine whose type is violating the Optical Law and I'll have the offender haled before the court of Public Opinion."

This radical departure from the old style "outline" letters makes it possible to produce, on The Oliver Typewriter, a page of manuscript as clear and attractive as that of the finest book. The Oliver is the first and only typewriter that successfully prints print.

The Primary Reason

Printype resulted from our discovery that "out line" type, with its sameness, due to absence of shading, was harmful to the eyes.

The Silent Test

For months, without any advertising, we put hundreds of Printype Oliver Typewriters into actual service, in many diverse lines of business. We wanted the public's verdict. It came in a burst of admiration and a flood of orders that proved Printype a brilliant success. Printype letters, wherever seen, excited the keenest interest. Business men who received the first Printype letter almost invariably answered, post haste—"Where did you get that type?" Thus Printype captured the country without firing a single shot.

Price Not Advanced

The Printype Oliver Typewriter sells for $100. You can pay at the rate of 17 cents a day. The "Printype" is our latest and best model. The new type adds 25 per cent to the value, but not one cent to the price. A small cash payment brings the machine.

NEGRO PROGRESS SHOWN AT EXPOSITION.
New York, Oct. 22.—The exposition arranged by the negroes of the United States to show the progress made by their race during the fifty years which have elapsed since their emancipation was proclaimed by President Lincoln, was opened here today at Twelfth Regiment armory, Columbus avenue and Sixty-Second street. Thousands of negroes and persons of the white race visited the exposition on the opening day and it is the general verdict that the exposition is unusually interesting and creditable to the colored race. A clear picture is given of the gradual physical and intellectual development of the negroes from the days of the Pharaohs and particular stress is laid upon their marvelous development in this country and elsewhere during the past fifty years. The exhibits consist of maps, photographs, models, charts and examples of the products of the inventive genius and the industrial activity of the negroes in the United States, Liberia, Haiti and Santo Domingo. During the ten days of the exposition there will be historic pageants with many spectacular features, addresses by prominent negroes, tableaux, etc.

Most Dangerous of Minor Ailments
Of the minor ailments a cold is by far the most dangerous, not in itself but the serious diseases it so often leads to. Pneumonia and consumption always start with a cold. When you have a cold you are much more likely to contract the infectious diseases such as diphtheria, scarlet fever and whooping cough. Colds are easily cured, in fact, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of this most common ailment; and is pleasant and safe to take. Why take such desperate chances when so reliable and trustworthy a medicine may be obtained for a quarter. For sale by all dealers.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL PLANS.

The reports of the county in attempting to reach the "Association Standards" of the Illinois Sunday School association show that the weakest part of the Morgan county schools has been the temperance or pledge signing activities.

Four Sundays each year have been given over entirely to the study of a temperance lesson, and while the faithful teacher has been teaching temperance on these occasions, little has been done in the way of giving an expression to the instruction received by the pupils, especially in the signing of the temperance pledge. The want this to be entirely changed and ask the hearty co-operation of every school in the county to make this change possible.

Last March over 5,000 Sunday school pupils (including over 1,000 men) signed the total abstinence pledge in Adams county. Such splendid results as this will surely arouse the workers of Morgan county to attempt to obtain even larger turns in this direction.

So thoroughly convinced is the Morgan county association that this can be done that they are planning to make the world's temperance Sunday, November 9th, the time for doing the thing. In the series of institutes now being held this matter is being vigorously presented to every school in the county. They are being urged to distribute temperance literature and to hang up posters in public places all over the county, showing the effect of alcoholic beverages on the human system. Then on the above date urge upon the men and boys the signing of the pledge.

Leaflets and full explanations are being given to all schools. Further help can be secured by addressing Rev. Walter Spooner, Jacksonville, who is chairman of the temperance committee of the county.

The temperance hosts of our land are everywhere singing the song "A Saloonless America by 1920." Let us as Sunday school workers do all we can to make this possible. The Sunday school is the most powerful moral force in the world today. In directing this force let us gravely consider the responsibility that is ours, and use the power that is placed in our hands in the most effective way possible by making world's temperance Sunday all that it is possible to make it. Geo. T. Douglas, Chairman Executive Committee.

A UNIQUE CUSTOM

Some years ago the Vinol fraternity, of which L. P. Allcott is a member, originated the idea of having a national display week of Vinol and companion products, semi-annually.

This Vinol fraternity must be quite an extensive organization, for returned travelers tell of the wonderful window displays of Vinol which they have noticed in their travels through Canada, Cuba and as far away as South America.

Mr. Allcott is now preparing for Vinol week, which begins Oct. 27th, this year. His attractive window arrangements, and store decoration, show the same enthusiasm which he has for years put behind his meritorious Cod-Liver and Iron preparation.

Later in the season he intends to give away a new Vinol Cook Book to his customers. Every woman interested in good cooking receipts should call and get one.

JACKSONVILLE CONTRACTORS IN MEREODOSIA.

Messrs. Marcus and Asa Robinson have completed the brick work on four business rooms, each 20 to 60 feet, for Mrs. J. P. Bauman of Mereodosia. The buildings are all in a block and connected and it is needless to say the work so far has been well done. The Robinson brothers took the whole contract for the building and sublet the carpenter work to Frank T. Irving of this city and that is another guarantee of a good job. While at work down there the Robinson brothers had with them from Jacksonville Joseph Harvey, a bricklayer, and Charles Hogans, hod carrier. They rented a vacant house and kept bachelors' hall while there and had a regular picnic. Hogans is an accomplished cook, so they secured a gasoline stove, suitable material, comfortable shakedown at night for sleeping purposes and they snapped their fingers at the world. In the morning the cook was up first and soon had his stove going and breakfast was ready in good season. Among the menus they had porcine product of la lacon et fry; fruit of the barnyard fowl et aqua thermal; maize or wheat ground a la flap-jackibus; Brazilian berry browned, ground, mingled with aqua and caloricated a la mode with lactical and saccharine additions.

These and various other evidences of Mr. Hogans' genius served to supply the inner man in a very satisfactory manner. At the close of each meal the cook, being the artist of the company, turned over the responsibility of the program to the underlings, so Asa generally manned the dish cloth, while Harvey and Marcus arined themselves with towels and the dishes were soon clean and put away.

The brick work is done and before long the plastering will go on. Mr. Faugust of this city has the metal ceilings, Cruise & Benson the painting and a Chicago firm the roof. The brick and tile came from Hamilton, Ill.

Woman's World

Miss Harriet Ware
A Famous Composer.

MISS HARRIET WARE.

Miss Harriet Ware, the young American composer, is now recognized among the foremost women composers of the world. Her work has been published only a few years, but from childhood she has expressed herself in musical composition.

When a young girl Miss Ware appeared as a concert pianist and won great praise for her interpretations of Bach. Later, during her study in Paris, she developed a sweet, true singing voice, and since then she has been a deep student of the art of singing.

It is this quality of pianistic ability, added to the understanding of the singing voice, which makes her songs a universal appeal to great artists and the public.

Her "Boat Song" and "The Cross," the words of the latter written by Edwin Markham; the "Hindu Slumber Song" and the "Sunlight Waltz" are some of Miss Ware's compositions that are to be found on the programs of famous vocal artists.

Miss Ware's more ambitious works are the cantatas "Sir Olaf" and "Undine," which were recently given in New York city with a chorus of 500 picked voices.

Miss Ware is a born naturalist, and her thoughts follow the suggestions of nature of melody and of rhythm, and she is not in sympathy with the modern trend of music, although this young composer is not insensible to the sincerity of men like Debussy, but she is restive at the thought of an imitative school of followers who acquire his theories without his genius.

"I must be absolutely myself," she says, "and I think there are both sanity and wholesomeness in American genius."

Watchman For Her Neighbors.

A girl who was obliged to be a stay at home each summer because the contents of her slim purse would not allow her any vacation conceived the idea one summer of acting as "watch woman" for her wealthy neighbors who went away each summer and closed up their houses.

They paid her well for her services, as they knew she was honest, reliable and conscientious in her duties.

She kept the keys to their homes in her possession, as well as the addresses and long distance phone numbers of the owners, so that she could notify them immediately if anything went wrong, such as fire, burglary, etc.

Every day she went the rounds of inspection, going through each house to see that everything was undisturbed and locking it securely on leaving.

At Summer Resorts.

A young woman clever in the use of water colors has for several summers made a substantial sum of money by painting sets of paper dolls and offering them for sale in exclusive summer hotels. They create a perfect furor among the little girls, who are eager to buy each new set as it appears, and in most cases the hotel management has been quite willing to handle them at the candy or cigar counters free of charge. It is always a problem to know how to amuse the children at summer resorts, and the grownups welcome so clean and quiet an occupation as paper dolls. High school girls would find this an easy way to secure extra frocks or frills for commencement time.

English Peeress Becomes Editor.

The first peeress to become an editor is the Marchioness Townshend, who has been selected in that capacity by the new magazine Our Dumb Friends.

The first number was recently issued for private circulation. It is understood that to make the magazine pay there will be other features than those pertaining to animals, such as a social department and a sporting page "featuring" particularly dog and horse exhibitions, all of which will be under the direct supervision of Lady Townshend.

A STRONG REFERENCE.
A young man recently applied for a position with a large printing house, and not having a letter of reference, offered his bank book. It showed a regularity of entries of deposit. It was a very strong recommendation, indicating character and persistence, which finally secured for him a good position.

WORLD'S LATEST FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

SPECULATION DIES OUT; STOCKS BECOME DULL

PRESSURE AGAINST STEEL HOLDS MARKET IN CHECK.

Tone Improves Shortly After Opening But Quotations Move Off
Again in Final Hour—Bearish
Talk Centers About Steel.

(By Associated Press)
New York, Oct. 22.—After the favorite stocks had relapsed a point or so from the higher level attained on yesterday's buoyant rise, interest in speculation died out today and the market became dull and flat.
The tone improved and part of the early losses was recovered but in the final hour quotations moved off again. Bull leaders were not inclined to take an aggressive position, in view of the uncertainties of the general situation.

Steady pressure against steel was effective in holding the market in check. Most of the bearish talk of the day centered about the steel stocks. The steel trade reviews spoke of further reductions in working forces and it was announced that one of the steel corporation's subsidiaries had dismissed a large number of employees. Additional price reductions were reported. Declaration of 21 per cent back dividends on vultures preferred caused a jump in 15½ points in the stock.

American Tobacco was again strong in its gain in the last two days amounting to 15 points. California petroleum common and preferred were weak, falling to low records.

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Hilbert Tells of Her Distressing Symptoms During Change of Life and How She Found Relief.

Fleetwood, Pa.—"During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flashes of heat were so bad sometimes that I did not know what to do.

"One day a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me a strong well woman. I am very thankful that I followed my friend's advice and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sick and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. You may publish my letter."—Mrs. EDWARD E. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, tinidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

INDIANS OWN VAST AMOUNT OF PROPERTY

MORE THAN A BILLION DOLLARS IS VALUE OF THEIR HOLDINGS.

Land Is Steadily Increasing in Value and Presents Alluring Field for Grafters—W. K. Moore head Made Address at Mohonk Conference.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Indians in the United States own property worth more than a billion dollars. There is now $48,000,000 in the United States treasury to the credit of the American Indians. Their land holdings, steadily increasing in value, "serve as baits to attract an army of grafters, shyster lawyers and schemers."

These statements introduced an address delivered before the Lake Mohonk Conference of Friends of the Indians and Other Dependent Peoples today by Warren K. Moorehead of Andover, Mass., member of the United States board of Indian commissioners. Mr. Moorehead discovered the White Earth frauds of 1909 and recently investigated Indian conditions in Oklahoma. His subject was "An Historical Review of the Indian Situation."

His paper called attention to previous investigations which have been reported to the conference from time to time, to the work of the Indian Rights association and that of the "best man in the Indian service," Inspector E. B. Linnen; also to the reports of missionaries, business men and scientists, the past twenty years. All this data, properly assembled and digested, he said, means but one thing—that no matter how honest a man we have as commissioner of Indian affairs, or how capable and competent the heads of departments in the Indian office, we cannot save the Indian as a race under our present scheme of management. "We benefit individuals, but we are producing unnumbered paupers and diseased Indians."

Change Officials Too Often.

"Under our form of government," Mr. Moorehead continued, "we are not fit to handle a dependent people since we have had four commissioners of Indian affairs in six years. This is not conducive to efficiency. I do not criticize the personnel of the Indian service or the efforts of those thousands of hard-working men and women who are endeavoring to uplift the Indian. We have concentrated on citizenship which in most cases is of little or no value. Roughly stated the Indian is a citizen in name only and he has neither the rights nor the protection afforded white citizens. No where in the United States are communities of white citizens defrauded out of their property. The Indian citizenship must be made effective and real, the laws enforced. Otherwise we will have unnumbered paupers to support."

Change of Policy Needed.

"For more than two generations we have had commissioners of Indian affairs at Washington and in spite of their best efforts the same problem confronts us today. The only salvation of the Indian lies in a total change of policy; the appointment of a commission of nine men—the best obtainable men in the United States, and men who understand Indians and not political appointees. This commission should be appointed for at least ten years and if possible fifteen. It should publish its findings every three months and all its hearings should be public. It should have in its charge every Indian person and all cash belonging to Indians or tribes, farm lands, mines, oil wells and other property should be absolute and final. It should eliminate all educated and competent Indians, making of them citizens."

The speaker asserted that because of the interference of interested persons through congress and otherwise, it was utterly impossible for one man to manage successfully the intricate problems connected with Indian welfare in this country.

ANAEMIC SINCE CHILDHOOD

How Miss Holmes Regained Her Health.

If you are anaemic, you need more iron in your blood, and the tell-tale symptoms are a pale face, colorless lips, ashen finger nails, poor circulation, and short breath. And serious diseases are easily contracted when in this condition. What Vinol did for Miss Yvonne Holmes of Fall River, Mass., it will do for every anaemic run-down person. She says: "I have been weak and anaemic since childhood, always had 'that tired feeling.' Tonic after tonic was tried with little or no result until Vinol was recommended, and after taking three bottles, my appetite and digestion have been improved. I do not suffer any more from insomnia, nor do I have distressing headaches as formerly, and I am stronger than I have been for years."

We ask every anaemic or run-down weak person in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim. Lee P. S.—Eczema Sufferers! We guarantee our new skin remedy, Saxe.

INDIAN LAND GRAFT METHODS ARE DESCRIBED

Representative Murray Says Minors are Often Robbed by Sharps who Work in Connection With Probate Judges.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The methods of those who prey upon the land owning Indians of Oklahoma were described, and means to circumvent them were recommended by William H. Murray, member of congress from Oklahoma, in an address before the Lake Mohonk conference of Friends of the Indian and Other Dependent Peoples. Mr. Murray was president of the Oklahoma constitutional convention and the first speaker of the house of representatives of that state.

His first suggestion was that restrictions should be removed from all adults of the so-called Five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma, who have less than three-quarters Indian blood. "Restricted" Indians, he explained, were those who had some restriction upon the transfer of any portion of their allotments or homesteads. Such restrictions apply only to land and run with its title and do not affect the person of the owner; since the Oklahoma Indians enjoy the privileges of the ballot and is in every other way classed as a citizen under the state constitution. The federal laws now provide restrictions upon all Indians of more than half blood.

Land Grafters' Ways.

The full blooded Indians, said Mr. Murray, are the chief objects of attack by land grafters, who although unable to make much headway in acquiring title seek by contracts to becloud the title in such a way that in the event of the removal of restrictions they would be almost the only possible purchasers. "There is one land copartnership," he said, "which is said to control by lease at least 250,000 acres in the Chickasaw and Choctaw nations, the lands mostly of restricted Indians."

The greatest injustice, he went on, is caused by Indian minors, who are robbed of their inheritances by land grafters, often working in collusion with probate judges. "It is enough to make such Indian child," he declared, "an anarchist, while it surely will make paupers of them all. Let the doors be closed against the sale of any minor's land unless he dies."

Opposes Tribal Roll Opening.

All honest men in Oklahoma, said Mr. Murray, and the Indians themselves oppose the reopening of the tribal rolls which would admit to participation in tribal estate persons not entitled to such division. He quoted from the Democratic platform of 1912, which said:

"We are opposed to the taking by the government of the Indian trust funds, amounting to millions of dollars, in paying salaries and expenses of federal office holders and departmental appointees—after agreeing by solemn treaty pledges to pay such expenses by the federal government."

"This is the view," he added, "of practically everybody in our state."

IMPORTED BEEF MAY NOT LOWER PRICES.

Prediction Made That Receipt From Argentina and Australia Will Not Benefit Consumer.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat sees no benefits for the consumer in the expected shipments from Argentina. That paper looks at the matter as follows:

There is talk of a regular supply of refrigerated beef from Argentina, and as it may come in free of duty its cost can no longer be heaped upon the tariff. The supply in Argentina is ample, standing in government reports 30,000,000 cattle and 68,000,000 sheep. Its cattle ranch area is enormous and all who journey up its great rivers, which ships may ascend, the struck by the low price of beef obtained by those who raise it. Yet only 50,000,000 acres are under cultivation in a total of 728,000,000 suitable for pasture or raising crops. Argentina is decidedly expansive. Next to Paris the City of Buenos Ayres contains the largest population of Latin descent. The immigration to Argentina is 250,000 a year. Nearly a third of the present population are Italians, an industrious race. A temperate climate promotes business enterprise. There will be plenty of room for new cattle growers for the next century and the facilities for distribution of products are unusually good.

Nevertheless, consumers should not be too sanguine about a reduction in the cost of meats as a result of importation from Argentina and Australia. It is true that meats will come in free of duty and that refrigerating methods on ships are successful. But there have been cases where the duty has been taken off articles in common use and an advance in their cost followed. In fact it has seldom happened in such cases that the consumer realized that there had been a change in prices. Somehow the difference is absorbed by middlemen or by syndicates who are first to get an advantage in the readjustment. Beef from Argentina in quality is not equal to that raised in the United States, yet it would serve a purpose if it were delivered at prices anywhere near those prevailing along the Argentine rivers that can be penetrated for long distances by refrigerating ships. But when this happens larkies may be gathered up and roasted, for the skies will have fallen. Watch and see what takes place in the beef of Argentina and mutton of Australia.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS.

Abolishing the cross roads one-room school and establishing consolidated or centralized schools is advocated in a bulletin just issued by the United States bureau of education. The bureau recommends this wherever it can be done without too great expense and without breaking up or disintegrating existing communities. The bulletin is an educational survey of Montgomery county, Maryland, where conditions are fairly typical of the rural school problem in general. It is hoped that by a close view of one rural district, other rural communities may be encouraged to investigate their school systems and make them more efficient.

The sentiment in the country districts is not everywhere ready for the consolidated school idea is freely admitted by the authors of the bulletin. In Montgomery county a majority of the school patrons express themselves as opposed to the idea. They realize fully the deficiencies of their rural schools, but they were not yet willing to accept consolidation as the remedy. The writers of the bulletin endeavor to show that most of the defects complained of by the school patrons—poor teaching, low salaries, lack of thoroughness in the common branches, few special subjects; work not advanced enough—are inherent in a system of one room country schools, and that the way to remedy the situation is to have fewer and better schools, with transportation furnished to pupils living at a distance.

It is pointed out that the rural school conditions found in this Maryland county are by no means peculiar to it, but the typical of what is still found in country districts elsewhere. In several respects Montgomery county is superior to other rural localities in its educational facilities. It has, for instance, a school year of 180 days, as compared to terms as low as 40 days in parts of some states; and like every other Maryland county, it has county supervision of schools (which educators consider the most effective means of building up rural education).

To make the one room rural schools as efficient as possible, but to do away with them by consolidation wherever practicable, is the motto the rural school improves have adopted. Constant improvement is reported in the facilities offered by the one room rural school, particularly in relating school work to farm needs, but side by side with this improvement has gone the movement for consolidation, until there are now several thousand consolidated schools in the United States.

Two Great Terminals Planned for Chicago.

John F. Wallace City's Expert Makes Known His Ideas—Alton Would Be In West Side Group.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22.—John F. Wallace, the city's expert, made public his report on Chicago's railway terminal problem. Aside from his approval of the proposed passenger station of the Pennsylvania group of roads on the West Side, and also their freight terminal, if moved south from Van Buren to Harrison street and the tracks are suppressed below street grade, two features of his report stand out prominently. These embrace loop congestion and the opportunities for terminal facilities on the Illinois Central road.

Mr. Wallace would eventually have two large passenger terminals. One of these he would have on the West Side, accommodating the Pennsylvania, Alton, Burlington, St. Paul and Pennsylvania, and, perhaps the Northwestern roads. All of the other roads he would place in the Illinois Central station. With two levels he asserts the Illinois Central has space for sixty six end tracks, and beneath these could be operated suburban trains. This large space is available since the deal between the South Park Commission and the Illinois Central, by which it gave up its riparian rights to the Lake Shore.

POSTPONE ACTION IN LETTING SCHOOL BUILDING CONTRACT

John Wolke Who Made Lowest Bid Notified Board of $2,700 Error—Matter Deferred Until Legal Advice Can Be Secured.

When all seemed propitious for letting the contract for the new eighth grade building last evening the board of education met with a peculiar setback. The board had adjourned till 9 or 8:45 last evening owing to the expected absence of Mayor Davis, but he was not called away as he supposed he would be so the first thought was to assemble for the dispatch of business at 7:30, but when the roll was called it occurred to the members that there might possibly be a legal complication should they do so and it was decided that while there would be no attention paid to the matter in an ordinary meeting it would be better to wait till the adjourned time so as to be on the safe side.

Meanwhile Mr. Wolke, the apparently successful bidder, went to the members informally and informed them that he had made a mistake of $2,700 in his bid. In adding up the various amounts he had put down 3000 as 200 and he simply threw himself on the mercy of the board and asked that he be permitted to revise his bid. The members would not express an opinion in the matter, but when the meeting was called to order the board decided to call together the members, together with the clerk and architect this morning and seek legal advice regarding the matter and adjourned till Monday evening.

The members of the board would not express an opinion personally as to their disposition to permit Mr. Wolke to add the $2,700 to his bid or to require him to go ahead according to his proposal. Should he increase his bid $2,700 he would still be the lowest as the figures were in round numbers:

Wm. McCullough $48,612
J. Vasconcellos & Sons 48,887
M. G. Fernandes 48,720
J. De Gouveia 49,903
J. Wolke 45,381
Or with $2,700 added 48,081

WILL OPPOSE RE-ELECTION OF
THOSE HOSTILE TO AMENDMENT

Dr. Shaw Makes Announcement Following Conference at Plans for Constitutional Change to Permit Nation-Wide Suffrage, Are Discussed.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Defeat for re-election of all those who oppose the adoption of a constitutional amendment to assure nationwide woman suffrage, including senators and representatives in congress and members of the state legislatures, is the avowed object of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, who arrived here today.

Dr. Shaw made this announcement today following a conference with Washington suffragists at which plans were discussed for advancing the movement for the proposed amendment. She will inaugurate her campaign at Lynchburg, Va., next Friday night, when she will address the Virginia Suffrage league and proposes to continue it before other suffrage organizations in various parts of the country.

Plans for the convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association to be held here in December were considered at the conference. Action on the constitutional amendment will be the principal feature of the convention and the president expressed the belief that it would be unanimously favored.

In a statement today Dr. Shaw denounced the detention of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English suffragette leader, at Ellis Island, characterizing it as "ridiculous in the extreme." The only effect upon woman's suffrage in this country, Mrs. Pankhurst would have, she said, would be to arouse sympathy for the cause.

BOARD TO CANVASS RETURNS TODAY.

Springfield, Oct. 22.—With the returns from Stark, Putnam and Woodford counties already filed with the secretary of state and the returns from the other counties of the fifth judicial district are likely to be in by tomorrow, the state canvassing board consisting of the state elective officers, probably will meet in the morning to canvass the vote in the recent election.

As soon as the official formalities have been completed Charles O. Craig, the newly elected justice of the supreme court will be sworn in and take his seat.

The Loyal Women's class of the Christian church, taught by Mrs. Harney, and the ethany Bible class, a class of ladies taught by Mr. Harney, sixty in all, braved the inclement weather and enjoyed the hospitality of their teachers from 2:30 until 5:30. They were assisted by the class presidents, Mrs. Emma Bourn of the Loyal Women and Mrs. Laura Armstrong of the Loyal Women's class and by the social committee composed of Mrs. Charles Elmie, Mrs. James Strawn, Miss Liz-zie Kataichak, Mrs. C. L. Hayden and Mrs. C. B. Graff. The ladies were delightfully entertained by music from Hitt's orchestra and passed the afternoon in a pleasant social manner. Refreshments were served in the dining room which was decorated with salvia and roses.

JAPANESE CLOVER.
In the front window of the Farmers' Bank & Trust Co.'s office is a bunch of Japanese clover sent to W. T. Brown of this city from his farm near Des Arc, Ark. The plant looks a bit like alfalfa, though it is hardly as large and the roots are insignificant in comparison. Mr. Brown says they have considerable hopes of this plant as our ordinary clover, timothy and blue grass all fail to thrive down there owing to the hot and often dry weather. This Japanese clover spreads spontaneously and seems to thrive where no other valuable grass will do well. For a while it was only regarded as good for grazing, but attention and cultivation have developed a plant which will make hay and Mr. Brown's father-in-law, Howard Thompson, is now attending to the saving of the crop.
